A collection of reminiscences and articles devoted to the first national theatre school in Poland, which had an Acting Department (lead by Aleksander Zelwerowicz) and a Theater Staging Department (lead by Leon Schiller). The school functioned in Warsaw in the years 1932-1944 (during the war years 1939-1944 underground), and in Łódź in the years 1945-1946. Most of the contributions were written and presented in 1982 at a Session organized at the Warsaw Theatre Academy (PWST).

II. SOURCE MATERIALS

1. Zbigniew R a s z e w s k i, Letters to Mieczysław Klimowicz (1961-1992) 145
A selection of letters of a theatre historian (1925-1992) addressed to a historian of literature, a professor of Wrocław University. Mostly devoted to Polish theatre during the Age of Enlightenment.
2. Joanna S i b i l s k a, The Benefit of Feliks Krzesiński in St. Petersburg, 1888 173
An article which reconstructs, on the basis of letters and press publications, the Benefit Performance of the Polish dancer (1823-1905) at the Mariinsky Opera Theatre in St. Petersburg, commemorating fifty years of stage work by Feliks Krzesinski.
3. Jerzy G o t, Cracow actors in the German „Colossal Film Picture” 187
The story of a German propaganda film from the time of the First World War entitled Under the Reign of Tyrants, which was made with the participation of Polish actors.
4. The liquidation of the Polish theatre in Kiev (1926-1938) in the records of the GPU and the NKWD. Prepared by Maria W o s i e k. 195
A collection of documents from the archives of the Soviet political secret police concerning the liquidation of the Polish theatre in Kiev, which existed there in the years 1926-1938, and was closed down as a part of the campaign against nationalist movements in the Soviet Union under the pretext of uncovering a clandestine Polish military organization among the members of the company. The collection includes records of interrogations, statements by the accused, and court sentences.
